Bear Appears on Tonight Show

Red Bear's continuing campaign to win wider recognition for bow and arrow sports through mass communications media received a boost recently when Fred appeared on the Tonight Show and Mike Douglas television show.

Arthur Godfrey, Godfrey and Bear safaried together through Mozambique, Port of East Africa, in 1964. It was his safari that Bear bagged his set bowhunting trophy to date a 4-ton bull elephant.

Mike Douglas Show is syndicated through the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co., Inc. It appears in 10 cities in the United States and Canada. The Tonight Show, hosted by NBC-TV, is seen in 45 cities.

Godfrey and Bear recalled some of their African adventures on the Tonight Show and a demonstration of the striking power of an arrow fired from a bow.

Godfrey is president of Bear very Company in Grayling, Michigan, and is an accomplished hunter - having bagged more than 100 big game trophies with and without arrow.

Crawford Co. Workers Better Off

(Special to the Avalanche)

NEW YORK — Is the average Crawford County family better off today in terms of buying power, than it was five or ten years ago? To what extent has the rising cost of living eaten into the income gains it has chalked up? Locally, the figures show, the financial picture is a rosy one. Family earnings have been rising at a much faster rate than the cost of goods and services.

As a result, the average product of labor is in much better shape than it was in previous years. His week's pay goes further in the market place than it did formerly. Just how it shapes up, taking into account both increased earnings and higher costs, is brought out in surveys made by the Tax Foundation by the Department of Labor and others.

They show that the average working man in Crawford County now earns enough after 30 minutes of work to buy a pound of round steak, best grade, or the equivalent.

Wheels Of Government Often Move Exceedingly Slow

SLOW "ACTION"

Wheels of government often move exceedingly slow. Witness a case which was heatedly debated two years ago and now flairs anew.

Early in 1964, the State Civil Service Commission began fighting to get the larger Secretary of State fee branches under its jurisdiction. These are the offices which distribute auto license plates.

For decades, the Secretary of State has been blessed with one of the largest patronage organizations in these fee branches. He decides where branch offices should be and who should manage the offices.

Contention of the Civil Service Commission is that the largest of these, primarily in large metropolitan areas, employ several full-time people and do a volume of business which warrants their inclusion under the civil service setup.

The Commission ordered fee payments stopped as of June 30, 1964 to the selected large offices. Civil Service examinations were given and over 100 top rankers on the written test were interviewed orally that spring to allow the Commission to establish a roster of available managers.

When the state treasurer failed to stop the payments, the Commission took the case to the Ingham County Circuit Court.

Jurisdiction of the case in the Circuit Court was challenged by the Secretary of State, who contended a decision on the matter should come from the new Court of Appeals.

Thus, a two-year stall occurred until recently when the Court of Appeals decided the question before it. The question, however, simply meant the renewal of the basic issue of whether the large branches should be changed from fee offices to Civil Service salary-pay basis.

The Court of Appeals decision said only that the Circuit Court did have jurisdiction in the matter.

Thus, a fight which was almost forgotten will start anew. How long it lasts could be considerable because Circuit Court dockets throughout the state are heavy and the Ingham County bench is no exception.

No doubt any decision at the Circuit level will be appealed by the losing side so it could be a good many years before a final decision is known on whether certain license plate offices will be brought under Civil Service.

STUDENT HELP

Despite a late start, an undetermined number of fall freshmen in Michigan will get state assistance with the high cost of attending private colleges and universities. Questions of church-state separation were sharply debated before the Legislature gave approval to a $3.5 million appropriation which became law Aug. 1. It provides scholarships to students at private schools recognized by the State Board of Education.

Some 40 institutions would be included in the eligible list, most of them church-related.

Students could be eligible for scholarships under the new law if their family's income was $10,000 or less, with smaller amounts being available to youths from the higher income families.

With just over a month to mull over an estimated 7,000 applications, officials in the Department of Education anticipate little difficulty in distributing the $100-$500 grants provided under the law.

Support for the scholarship program was based largely on the idea of encouraging students to enroll at private colleges and possibly relieve some of the pressure on public schools.

some national columnist mentioning the name of Michigan's Governor in speculation about the 1968 election.

Gov. George Romney isn't very vocal on the possibility one way or the other, but his out-of-state appearances are becoming more frequent, one mark of a potential candidate.

Unlike Pennsylvania's Gov. William Scranton and California's hopeful Ronald Reagan, the Michigan executive has made no positive statements recently putting himself out of consideration.

Many observers commented that he was inadvertently letting his presidential aspirations show in some of the appointments he made under the recognition of state government last year and early this year.

Several key supporters were placed in departmental jobs, the self-appointed forecasters said, simply to keep them close at hand until the time would be right to switch them to full-time campaigners.

The same observers watched and listened closely to see Romney's approach to his current year campaign. It is customary for a candidate to avow he is running for "this job and no other." Since the Governor will be elected to a four-year term in November, Romney's wording on any such statement will be scrutinized with equal interest by both his supporters and his opponents.

Baby Boom Looms In Crawford Co.

(Special to the Avalanche)

NEW YORK—A dramatic reversal is due shortly in Crawford County's birth rate, which has been following the national pattern and been dropping for some time.

It is expected to zoom upward from now on for a period of at least five years.

Why the change? Because of the large crop of postwar babies, now grown up and reaching marriageable age.

Locally, the number of young women who will become 20, the most popular marrying age, during the next five years, will be about 25 per cent greater than in the past five years.

These girls were part of the tidal wave of children who were born in the United States between 1946 and 1951, just after the war.

Data on their pending coming-of-age has been compiled by the department of Health, Education and Welfare and by the Department of Commerce.

The figures show that Crawford County will participate fully in the upswing. The number of young women locally who are now in the 14 to 19 bracket and who will be 20 to 25 years old during the next five years is placed at 245.

The big questions are when will they choose to have their first children and what size families will they want.

The decision that young couples, in Crawford County and elsewhere across the country, make on that score will have a profound effect on the national economy.

Should the vogue change from the present 2.3 children per woman to an average of 3.0 the population would rise about 50 per cent in the next 25 years.

For most young couples, the dollars and cents factor is the principal one involved, according to the Public Health Service. Job security, the cost of living and the cost of rearing children are their major considerations.

The official figures show that the birth rate in the United States has been dropping ever since 1957.

The latest government report lists Crawford County with a rate of 20.6 births per 1,000 population. This compares with a rate of 19.5 per 1,000 for the nation as a whole and 21.3 per 1,000 in the State of Michigan.

The Michigan Public Service Commission has added its approval of the extension of Grayling's Michigan Avenue to serve the proposed new Crawford County Courthouse by authorizing the construction of a crossing over the New York Central Railroad.

"The need and constructive benefits of this crossing have been well established," Peter B. Spivak, Commission Chairman, said. "Now our principal concern is that adequate crossing protective devices be installed and maintained."

"The anticipated volume of street traffic and the nature of that traffic combined with the irregularity of train movements on the three tracks at the crossing call for track-activated flashing light signals, supplemented by 20-foot cantilever arms holding additional lights over Michigan Avenue in both directions," he said. "The Commission has ordered the Railroad Company to install such protection concurrent with construction of the crossing."

Pretty Bubbles In The Air

Old-fashioned fun for modern shut-ins can be found in the art of soap-bubble blowing. Spread out a blanket in a sunny spot. Mix one cup of distilled water with one-eighth cup of soap. Stir until dissolved. Add one-half cup of glycerine and mix well. After an hour, skim off surface bubbles with a spoon. This recipe will produce large, tough bubbles that bounce along the surface of a blanket several times without bursting. No bubble pipe? No, don't borrow father's favorite: kitchen funnels, empty spoons or drinking straws make splendid bubble pipes.

Letters To The Editor

Stockholm,

July 24, 1966

Mr. Robert Strong, Editor
Crawford County Avalanche
Grayling, Michigan, U. S. A.

Dear Mr. Strong:

I am now into my sixth week in Sweden. In the letter I'll tell you a little about Stockholm, and its surrounding area.

As you probably know, the city was built about 1250 on hundreds of tiny islands on the east coast of the Scandinavian (Scandinavian) peninsula.

If you come to Stockholm, one of the first things you "must" see is of course the home of Sweden's present "constitutional" monarch, Gustaf VI Adolf. The Royal Palace is considered one of the most beautiful royal residences in the world.

Another "must" is the warship "Vasa" which capsized on her maiden voyage in 1628. She has been raised from the muddy harbor and is now the oldest fully identified warship in the world.

Close to the "Vasa" is the museum of most interest to tourists, the National Museum. Here, for this summer, are some of the world's most outstanding paintings. The exhibit is entitled "Christina" and is about one of Sweden's most famous queens.

A little way out of Stockholm is Drottningholm. Here is the only perfectly preserved 18th century theatre in the world. Drottningholm is also the home of a beautiful palace built between 1682-1750 by King Gustaf 3rd Adolf. It seems members of the Royal Court had been to France and had come home to Stockholm to tell of the marvelous life the French royalty had at Versailles. Gustaf Adolf then started on his replica of the French beauty spot.

Although smaller (the gardens are about 1/4 the size of Versailles) it is considered just as magnificent. The palace contains paintings, tapestries, furniture and woodwork of the masters of the 17th and 18th centuries.

These are only a few of the "major" attractions. Others range from the world-famous night club "Club Opera" contained in the opera house; to small, enchanting restaurants and clubs of the Old Town.

I hope if you ever get to Stockholm, you will be able to spend a few weeks at the least, in order to enjoy the tremendous sight-seeing attractions and the "enchanting" night-life.

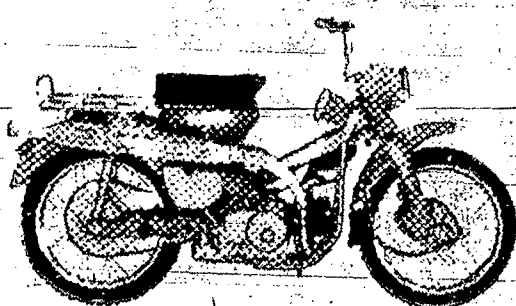

Be seeing you in the near future.

We're Habit-Forming

(Isn't That Nice!)

One of the nicest things that we discovered during the past months is that, more and more, our readers are becoming addicted to the news, pictures, advertising and features printed each week in these pages.

We have also discovered that more and more people are forming the Avalanche reading habit regularly. We have to keep increasing the number of copies that we print. (We think this is also very nice.)

We intend to continue to print every worthwhile item of news that you call to our attention. We plan also to continue to print all of the news that is of importance or interest to the people of the entire community. (These are the things that we call to your attention.) Our habitual readers are nice people. The nicest that you will find anywhere. They read the news, see themselves and their friends in the pictures, and they read the advertisements. They like them mixed together as we print them. (That way they are sure to see them, too.)

Naturally, we want all of the advertising we can get. It is what allows us to produce a newspaper that we plan to make even more habit-forming in the future. However, we do not solicit advertising from outside of the Crawford County trading area. Sometimes it appears that we are very bright to have such a policy, but we have used the policy for so many years that it too has become a habit.

We think we can serve our advertisers best if we try to bring readers, and customers, into the community, not make them leave it. We believe that our advertisers can serve the customers best too, if we maintain this policy. (We hope they both agree.)

Population Explosion . . .

In the past year or so, there has been increasing discussion of a coming world crisis—a crisis of exploding world population and mass starvation. Forecasts of approaching disaster are based on a world population trend which, if it persists, will result in a world population of some 7.5 billion by the year 2000 — more than double what it is today. To Dr. Irene B. Taeuber, senior research demographer at Princeton University's Office of Population Research, the increase " . . . is so awesome as to seem unreal."

The crisis has already begun in underdeveloped countries where poverty, hunger and illiteracy have always existed. And, according to population experts, the increase is coming, not because of a rapid rise in birth rates, but because of a decline in the death rate. This change in world mortality is accentuated, says Dr. Taeuber, " . . . by the generally large population bases which exist in the less-developed countries," and results in " . . . very large increases in masses or numbers of new inhabitants annually."

What is more, the population explosion is occurring in countries least able to feed their citizens and is growing faster than agricultural production in many parts of the world. "The size of the problem," says Dr. Roger Revelle, director of population studies, Harvard University, "is this: . . . in the underdeveloped world . . . about 650 million tons of food are produced . . . To meet the population increase . . . we are going to have to increase food production in the less-developed countries by 300 million tons (in the next 15 years). This is almost a 50 per cent increase . . . even if we maintain present levels of nutrition."

Demographers and agricultural specialists believe the only way famine can be averted is to increase agricultural productivity and decrease human fertility. Says Dr. Raymond Ewell, vice president of research at State University of New York, "Birth control alone can't do the job. And improved agriculture alone can't do the job. Both approaches will have to be used—and used on a massive scale."

To avert famine, the United States is being urged to lead a "World War on Hunger". Legislation has already been proposed to help provide food and fiber for the free world, by increasing U. S. agricultural production, offering more technical assistance to stimulate agricultural production in underdeveloped countries and giving special assistance to those countries wanting help with birth control programs.

On the U. S. agricultural front, the program would reverse the policy of curbing American farm production and thus put back into production acres of now "forbidden" agricultural lands. The criteria for making food shipments abroad would be shifted from "surplus" to "available" commodities.

Congress is being asked to appropriate $6.6 billion to finance the first two years of the hunger war. This is in addition to the billions of dollars in all other economic, military and foreign aid programs the U. S. funnels annually into underdeveloped countries of the world.

While the U. S. has the resources, the ability and the humanitarian desire to help other countries prevent an oncoming famine, it will be up to the individual nations to solve their own population and agricultural problems. Americans can pour in food, advisors, fertilizers, pesticides, equipment and birth control pills, but, unless leaders of underdeveloped countries take the initiative to realistically face their "life-or-death" plight with workable solutions, American goodwill may one day be washed out in a tide of disaster. The American economy and the economies of other developed countries could not feed a world of 7.5 billion people.

In the first group of soldiers assigned to the University of Illinois for the Army Specialized Training program is Edmund Rutkowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smith of 700 Michigan Avenue, Grayling. Instructional activities of the ASTP began July 12. The men are under military discipline at all times. They are quartered in some two dozen fraternity houses which have been taken over for this purpose.

Michigan automobiles will have only one license plate in 1944. It will be a rear plate which will probably be printed with white numerals and letters on a maroon background. Gus T. Hartman, deputy secretary of state, said the war production board has formally notified his department sufficient light steel would be released for the plates.

A new Ordinance has just been passed by our City Council which authorized our Mayor, to appoint a committee to assume complete charge of our two cemeteries. Mayor Burke appointed a committee of three—T. W. Hanson, Mrs. Frank Barnett and C. J. McNamara. Work was started the following day towards the rehabilitation of our cemeteries and the committee hired Mr. Otis Cook to have complete charge of the work, acting in the capacity of foreman. Mr. Cook was highly recommended by our City manager. The ultimate aim of the Cemetery Committee is to completely rebuild, landscape and beautify both cemeteries so that they will compare favorably with any modern cemetery in our state. In order for us to meet this there lies a tremendous job ahead which may take a few years to complete.

JENKINS-BURON WED IN LANSING

St. Casimir's Catholic Church in Lansing was the scene of the marriage of Miss Cherie Frances Jenkins and Mr. Patrick Stephen Buron
at half-past eleven Saturday morning, August 6, 1966. Father Thompson performed the double-ring ceremony. Cherie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Jenkins of 4422 Southgate, Lansing
and Pat the son of Mr. and Mrs.
Anthony Buron of 807 Vine, Grayling.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, wearing a full-length gown of Chantilly lace
over white taffeta styled with fitted bodice and long sleeves. Jewel-trimmed lace scallops formed the portrait neckline. Wide overlapping tiers of lace topped the extremely full skirt and swept into a chapel train. A deep sealapped crown trimmed with pearls and Aurora Borealis crystals secured her triple bouffant veil of imported French illusion. Fastened to her wedding gown was the wedding ring of the bride's grandmother, as the "something old." She carried a bouquet of miniature white carnations
centered with a single orchid.

Bridesmaids were Jackie Jenkins, sister-in-law of the bride, and Pam Cosner. The bride's niece, Tammy Jenkins, was flower-girl. All were attired in gowns styled alike with white lace over taffeta bodices, slim floorlength crepe skirts and detachable trains of lace fastened at the high-rise waistlines. Their dresses were colored a delicate pink, soft yellow and mint green, and each wore a matching headpiece. They carried a single ball of pom-poms tinted to match each gown.

How long has it been since you had a close one?

Quite often when you see an accident or pass the scene of one, you'll tell your friends about it later. Usually you'll add how you had a "close one" last week. You might even be thinking, "It could have been me."

Insurance On Local Residents, $18,042,000

(Special to the Avalanche)

NEW YORK—Residents of Crawford County began the current year
with more protection in the form of life insurance than ever before. Their coverage, per family, has reached an all-time high.

Total holdings of life insurance in the local area are now placed at more than $18,042,000.

The facts and figures on the number of policy holders and on the amount of insurance in force are data compiled for the forthcoming Life Insurance Fact Book and from other studies. They are detailed for the United States as a whole and for every state.

They show that the American people have over $900 billion in such insurance and that the trillion-dollar mark is well within sight. At the present rate it will be attained in 1967.

In the State of Michigan, according to the figures, the amount in force totals $43,457,000,000.

For most families in the state,
there is a direct relationship between their income and their insurance holdings. In the average family, the amount of insurance owned is equal to 24 months income, after taxes, it is found.

Applying this ratio to Crawford County residents and to their average income level, the estimated amount of life insurance locally is $12,400 per family.

It is more than twice as much as the average family in the area
held in 1955.

For the 1,450 local households, the grand total is $18,042,000. Most of it is in the form of ordinary life insurance. Group insurance is second in point of volume.

This total is exclusive of certain Government - sponsored insurance and insurance provided by fraternal organizations.

In the past ten years, the reports show, ownership of life insurance has more than doubled in the United States.

The rise has been keeping pace
with the growth of the economy.
When times are good, people increase their coverage. When there is a decline, however, they merely mark time, maintaining what they have.

The great increase in overall coverage in the past year reflects,
in part, the introduction of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, which provides policies for about 2.8 million men in the armed forces.

FELSHAUSER FAMILY REUNION HELD

The Felshauser Clan met at the Hartwick Pines, Sunday July 31, 1966, for their annual reunion and picnic. Eighty four members sat down to a bountifully loaded table,
for dinner at two o'clock. Later, watermelon was enjoyed by the small fry, as well as the older folks.

The eldest member of the family,
Wm. Felshauser, aged 88, from Jackson, and the youngest, Steven Alan Cruz, 8 months, son of Stanley and Patricia Cruz, of Alma, posed for pictures, and others
with cameras were snapping pictures.

The family traveling the farthest was M/Sgt. James Felshauser and family, who have been stationed in Puerto Rico for the past three years, and were on their way to his new assignment in Minot, North Dakota. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Felshauser and son David,
and Mr. and Mrs. David Moore, all of Daytona Beach Florida were the next who traveled the most miles to reach here.

The family with the most members attending was the A. P. Felshauser family, 42 in number.

Visiting was enjoyed by the folks, as some of them had not been together for years. There were many "Remember Whens", and reminiscences.

Officers were elected for the next year, Marge Stark and Linda Marshall, of Mio, as President and Secretary. The next reunion is to be the last Sunday in July, 1967.

Every one went home, tired,
but all agreeing it had been the best reunion yet, and hoping all would be able to make it back next year.

Those attending were from Jackson, Alma, Bay City, Mio, Bellaire, Marquette, Traverse City, Maple Forest, Puerto Rico, Florida
and Grayling.

Are there really
any sound reasons for buying a Chevrolet in August?

In a word: Six

1 Have you ever known the instant
delight of selecting a new Impala Super Sport in the color you want,
slipping into its Strato-bucket seats,
and driving it home from the showroom
the same day? Now's your chance.
Your Chevrolet dealer has a big choice of models on hand with small August price tags.

2 More than likely, your present car will never be worth as much in trade as it is right now. Money—another good reason to buy a Chevrolet this month.

3 Read those articles about when to buy a new car and they'll tell you that August is one of the best months. And your Chevrolet dealer is ready to show you why... with buys that are better than ever.

4 If you think winter's tough on an old car, believe us, so is summer. There's added strain on the engine because of vacation driving.
Greater tire wear. The cooling system has to work extra hard. A new Chevrolet can save you a lot of trouble.

5 You do a lot of driving for pleasure so why not ride on Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension. Let your feet feel that deep-twist Chevrolet carpeting. August is to enjoy.

6 Make your summer driving safer by driving by taking advantage of the eight standard safety features built into every new Chevrolet. If your present car doesn't have seat belts,
back-up lights, outside rearview
mirror, padded instrument panel,
look into a new Chevrolet.
